Neonatal encephalopathy (NE) is an abnormal neurological function that occurs after the first few days of an infant's life. This can be from traumatic brain injuries at birth, lack of oxygen during labor or other neurological complications. "Cooling Caps" create therapeutic hypothermia and has shown positive results in reducing brain damage by allowing the brain's inflammation to decrease while healing those brain injuries.

NE is a major cause of death and disability and causing around 20% of all cases of cerebral palsy in the United States.
